

Istanbul - Acibadem Mehmet Ali Aydınlar University Fellowship Program

Acibadem Mehmet Ali Aydınlar University, School of Medicine, the Department of General Surgery is pleased to support research and clinical fellowship positions providing clinical training and academic research in advanced level surgical procedures, minimally invasive surgery and complex gastrointestinal surgery.

University Affiliation:

Acibadem Altunizade Hospital

Acibadem Atakent Hospital

Acibadem Maslak Hospital

Case mix: The program emphasizes research on benign and malignant gastrointestinal conditions, including inflammatory bowel diseases and anorectal disorders. Gastrointestinal surgery procedures include approximately 1000 abdominal and anorectal cases per year. Abdominal cases are approached either open, or using laparoscopic or robotic techniques as clinically indicated. The robotic system used in our hospitals is da Vinci Xi system, representative of the latest surgical technology.

Strengths of the program:

The program is a university-based program with a strong academic commitment. Our surgery department has a database (REDCap™) in which the patient data is entered prospectively. Majority of the faculty members have research projects and are involved in medical education. Opportunities exist in basic science, animal work or clinical subjects.

The faculty members provide health care for a broad spectrum of conditions varying from simple to complicated gastrointestinal disorders and re-operative oncological surgery. The affiliated hospitals are the pioneers in terms of oncological robotic surgery in Turkey and the Middle East. The case variety and volume are the major strengths of the program.

Tumor board: The fellow is expected to attend tumor boards and present cases. A multidisciplinary board meeting is held weekly in gastrointestinal surgery.

Requirement for paper: The fellow is expected to accomplish research studies under the guidance of the staff surgeons. All the studies are evaluated by the research board of the gastrointestinal surgery department.

Opportunity to attend meetings: The fellow will be supported to attend national or international meetings and present his/her work. Unless there is an oral presentation, the attendance will be self-funded.

Certificate: Once completed, the fellow will receive a certificate of fellowship completion.

Accommodation: By fellows themselves.
